THE BRONCHO BRAYED LOUD

Sent For to Stir The Colored
Brother Up to the Voting Point.

CHARACTERISTIC SPEIL.

Made Unsupported Charges of Misappropriation of Public Funds.

Collector E. T. Franks, of Owensboro, made a Republican speech at the court house Friday night to a large crowd, many Democrats giving him a hearing. One side of the house was filled with colored voters, who needed stirring up by Franks, whose stock in trade is usually abuse, vilification, misrepresentation and noise. He has evidently recovered from his soreness at having to give way to Wilson, for he made more reckless statements than Wilson did himself, in trying to inflate the Republican balloon that refuses to ascend.

He made the statement that the Democratic administration had squandered or misappropriated $1,000,000, an average of $11.50 for every voter in the state. He went even further in his slanderous charges and said that Gov. Beckham had failed to account for $18,000 of a soldiers' fund of $160,000 placed to his credit. He said the Goebel campaign were dragged out every campaign to "stir the animals up."

His harangue disgusted the Democrats who expected to hear a sensible speech, and many Republicans were evidently ashamed of his style of oratory.

His speech made no votes for the Wilson ticket. It did not even entice the colored voters. One of them was overheard to say: "If them Democrats is got $4,000,000 to spend in thislection, dere's no use to talk about beatin' 'em. De 'lection is jes as good as over now."

Mr. Franks made a very lame and unsuccessful attempt to explain Mr. Wilson's connection with the Tobacco Trust.

Hager and Beckham.

Judge S. W. Hager spoke at Princeton Saturday to a large crowd. He received a warm greeting from former Confederate soldiers. Gov. Beckham spoke at Grayson to 2,000 people.

THE BIBLE CONFERENCE NOW IN SESSION AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

DR. J. C. MASSEE.

Pastor of the largest congregation in North Carolina, and one of the leading preachers of the South. He will preach to-night.

The Bible Conference at the Baptist church opened yesterday at full blast. It was one of the greatest days in a religious way Hopkinsville ever had. There were five addresses given during the progress of the day and all of them were listened to by a large audience. At the evening service the capacity of the building was taxed by the great crowd that began to gather as early as 6 o'clock.

At 10 o'clock in the morning, Mr. Frank L. Mallory, a Christian business man of Macon Ga., and one of the most noted Sunday School workers of the country, spoke on "A Holy Ghost Sunday School." The main part of the church was filled at that hour to hear him. The address was practical, and deeply spiritual, Mr. Mallory is in charge of the singing, and has proven himself master of the situation. The singing was an inspiring feature of the day's services.

At 11 o'clock, Rev. W. A. Nelson D. D. of Atlanta, Ga., preached on the "New Birth." He said that as he was to preach on the "Surrendered Life" that he would begin at the very foundation.

In the afternoon there were two addresses, Rev. Julian S. Rodgers, of Atlanta, Ga., and one of the ablest Bible teachers and evangelists in America, began a series of addresses on the "Second Coming of Christ." All who heard him were convinced that he was master of his subject.

Rev. W. L. Walker spoke following Dr. Rodgers. He spoke on the Bible as God's book, God's perfect revelation to man, and insisted that we believe the Bible and come to its study with open minds. "If you find you are wrong, get right," he said, and gave some experiences which showed that he practices what he preaches.

The evening service was a great one in point of congregation, singing and speaker. Dr. J. F. Love of the Baptist Home Mission Board of Atlanta, spoke on the "Gospel of Christ in the Home Land."

If Sunday services both in the ability of the speakers and interest shown on the part of the people are to sit the pace, The Bible conference is a great success.

Sunday afternoon pastor Jenkins according to previous promise, preached to the negroes at the Union Tabernacle. There were about 2000 present, and from the reports they gave of it they had "a shonough big meeting."

Monday's program was carried out in full. Rev. W. L. Waller and Dr. W. A. Nelson preaching on "The Presence of God" and "The Victorious Life." In the forenoon, and Dr. Rodgers and Mr. Waller preaching in the afternoon. At the night service, Rev. J. G. Bow, D. D., secretary of the Baptist State Mission Board spoke on the missionary work of the state.

Dr. J. C. Massee, of Raleigh, N.C., whose picture we present in this arrived this morning and will preach the first of his series on the "Holy Ghost, or the Spirit-Filled Life" to-night at 7:30 o'clock. He is spoken of as one of the great preachers of the South, and we predict a large hearing for him while in our city.

CARELESS ENGINEER

Overlooked Freight and Head-
On Crash Followed.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 21.—Four persons were injured, two probably fatally, in a head-on collision at Almo, Calloway county, 37 miles from Paducah at 4:30 o'clock Saturday. Engineer Mike Galvin overlooked a freight train which he hit at a speed of thirty miles an hour.

The freight was in charge of Engineer "Sandy" Herring. Fireman Charles Morris and Conductor Leo Crosswell, and Brakeman Fred Lawry, Herring and Galvin were badly mangled, John Mitchell was caught under the tank and nearly drowned by water before he was rescued. The remainder of the crew jumped.

GOVERNMENT BALLOON

Beats Long Distance Record and Wins Prize.

The army balloon, which started from St. Louis Thursday evening landed at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon about three miles from Walton, in Roane county, W. Va. The distance traveled was about 475 miles. The distance it had to beat to win the Lahn cup was 402 miles.

Dr. Cecil Elected.
Louisville, Ky., Oct. 18.—The State Association of Physicians has selected Winchester as the next place of meeting. Dr. Cecil was elected president, but he will not take the chair until next year, and Dr. Griffith, of Owensboro, will continue to sit until that time as a special mark of esteem.

Annual Contracts Referred to Corporations Committee
For Renewal Agreements

The City Council met Friday night with a full attendance. H. H. Mallory was granted a license to sell liquors in the former stand of R. A. Elkins and $102 of unearned license was refunded to R. A. Elkins.

The Bank of Hopkinsville having tendered a check for taxes, which the collector declined to accept as full settlement, the matter was laid before the council. The finance committee, to whom the adjustment of the matter was referred, was given further time. The amount of difference in calculation is $197.99.

The election of a successor to Policeman Drake, resigned, was again postponed, leaving the vacancy to be filled by appointment.

The matter of renewing the annual contracts, expiring Nov. 16, with the City Light Co. for 91 street lights, and with the Hopkinsville Water Co. for 122 fire plugs, was referred to the corporations committee with instructions to make a recommendation in each case at the meeting to be held Nov. 15.

City Engineer McClaid submitted a report estimating the cost of a six foot sewer from the corner of Virginia and Eleventh streets, down Virginia to Tenth and down Tenth to the river, to be $3,900. On motion the council decided to build the sewer with city labor under the supervision of the city engineer, at least do the excavating and then decide whether to continue the work or let it by contract. The sewer committee, composed of Councilmen Davis, Clark and Armstrong, was placed in charge of the work, which is to be begun as soon as possible.

The Cumberland Telephone Co. was ordered to remove a guy wire in front of Lucian Dade's new store on Virginia and Fourth streets, and other similar complaints were referred to the corporations committee.

Engineer McClaid reported the letting of contracts for pavements ordered on 9th and 19th streets.

STUCK BY ENGINE.

L. & N. Brakeman of Earlington, Loses His Life.

L. B. Baggett, a brakeman on the Henderson division of the L. & N., and whose home was in Earlington, was killed in the terminal yards at Nashville Friday by a switch engine. He was 30 years old and is survived by a widow and one child. The remains were interred at Greenbrier, Tenn., his home, Saturday.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

English Meat Pie.

As a way of using left-over meat try an old-fashioned "English meat pie." Chop cold beef finely, put in a deep baking dish a half of the meat, strewn lightly with bread crumbs, season highly with salt, pepper, butter and a few drops of onion juice; repeat the process till the dish is full or your meat used up. Pour over it a cup of stock or gravy, or, lacking these, hot water with a teaspoon of butter melted in it; on top a good layer of bread crumbs should be put and seasoned and dotted with butter. Cover and bake half an hour; remove the cover and brown.

Club Sandwiches.

Take equal parts of cooked chicken and hard-boiled eggs, chop and cook in enough thickened milk gravy to hold the mixture together, and season with salt, pepper and a touch of paprika. Cut slices of stale bread and season also. Place chicken mixture between two slices, between the next two a slice of fried potato, or chopped ham if preferred, then another of chicken. Tie these sandwiches together with twine and fry quickly in hot deep fat till a light brown. Dry and remove twine. Serve hot.

Maple Confections.

Maple confections are most popular this year. Maple cream over ice cream, maple cream with whipped cream and with cake. A good maple cream may be prepared as follows: Take one-half a pound of maple sugar, one-half a pound of brown sugar, one-half a cup of water and half a teaspoon of cream of tartar. Boil these together until they form a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Pour out into a shallow platter and when nearly cold beat with a fork until thick and creamy.

Veal Cake.

A few slices of cold roast veal, a few slices of cold ham, two hard boiled eggs, two tablespoons of minced parsley, a little pepper, some good gravy. Cut all the brown outside from the veal, and cut the eggs into slices. Procure a pretty mold and lay veal, ham, eggs and parsley in layers with a little pepper between each. When the mold is full get some good gravy or stock and fill up the shape. Bake for one-half hour, and when cold turn it out.

Apple Taffy.

Wipe small apples carefully and run a thin skewer through each. Make a sirup of a pound of sugar and a small teaspoonful of water, and, when a little hardens when dropped into cold water, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice and dip the apples into the sirup. Lay on waxed paper to dry.

BEEF CROUTONS A DAINTY.

Savory Flavoring Is the Most Important Part of Dish.

The secret of success in making beef croutons lies in the savory flavoring. Fruit Juices play a large part in their preparation. Here is a timely recipe for a tasty meat dish: Mince a pint of cold meat very fine, with a small shallot and the grated rind of an orange. Season with salt, pepper and a pinch of grated nutmeg. Put a cup of port wine over the meat and, when hot, add a few teaspoons of brown sauce or good gravy, and a dash of catsup. Finally turn in the minced and flavored meat and simmer gently for five minutes, add a teaspoon of lemon juice and boil up once more. Set back on the stove to keep hot. Cut half-inch slices from a medium dry loaf of bread and shape with a tin heart-shaped cutter. Melt butter in a frying pan, fry the bread to a golden brown, drain on paper and arrange on a hot platter. Heap the minced meat on these, garnish with chopped, hard-boiled egg, or serve on each crouton, forming a nest in the meat, a poached egg.

PACKING THE LUNCH BASKET.

Newspaper Not Proper Thing to Wrap the Eatables In.

When it is not expedient to carry a basket or small box, at least see that the eatables are daintily wrapped—not promiscuously jumbled into a piece of newspaper. One is surprised and sometimes almost disgusted to see the method employed by many women who are fastidious in other respects, and it is amazing that they eat with any relish at all when bread, cake, pickles, a banana and possibly a cold boiled potato are tied in newspaper without other wrapping. Every one should know that strong chemicals are employed in the manufacture of paper, together with rags and refuse, and it is not a cheerful thought that the things we eat come in direct contact with them for several hours. The moisture from the viands causes more or less ink to be absorbed, and, while not necessarily harmful, it is not appetizing, to say the least.—Home Magazine.

Shoulder of Lamb Grilled.

A shoulder of lamb is excellent roasted, but is often preferred cooked in the following manner: Score it about an inch long and rub it over with a little butter and the yolk of an egg, then dip it into sifted cracker crumbs. Sprinkle over with pepper and sweet herbs, roast until a light brown. This is good with plain gravy, but better with the following sauce: Take a quarter of a pint of drippings from the meat, mix it with the same quantity of water. Place on the fire. When it boils up thicken with a little flour and water mixture. Add a tablespoonful of tomato catsup; season with salt and pepper.

THE NICKELDEON IN NEW YORK

New York has license 1300 moving picture shows in a year. The license is $25 for the first year and $12.50 thereafter. A theater pays $500 to Philadelphia the picture shows pay no license. The Philadelphia Press says: "This new form of amusement ought not to be prohibited; it should be regulated. It has come to stay. It has its uses. It is better than the street and teaches much when well selected. But it has its perils. This should be guarded against. The New York license is too low. The fee should be $100. Only a certain number should be allowed in a block. Films should be watched, and, if needed, inspected. Music should be restricted. Fire should be guarded against. Reduced in number and regulated, these moving picture shows will aid trade by attracting people. Theaters are always thick in shopping districts."

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

The Paducah team was heavier but the locals rallied with a new and lighter men and played a good game in the last half, missing a score by a fumble at a critical point. A return game will be played here. The expenses of the game were $54, borne by Paducah. About 100 people saw the contest.

The game of football played on the gridiron of South Kentucky college here Saturday, between the teams of South Kentucky College, and of the Southwestern Presbyterian University, of Clarksville, was witnessed by a large crowd. The game was hard fought all the way through, but was in favor of the local team. The features of the game were the fast playing of Byars and Capt. Hay, of the South Kentucky College team. Cheek played the star game for Clarksville. When the time was called the score stood 6 to 5 in favor of South Kentucky College. Time of halves, 20 minutes.

The game was a brilliant victory, and the South Kentucky College boys have a number of games to be played in the near future that it is hoped will add to their present victories. Nac, Timekeepers, Sherrill and Bader.

THIEVES IN PADUCAH.

Police Powerless to Stop the Work of a Daring Gang.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 18.—Footpads and sneak thieves seem to have swooped down on Paducah, and the police seem powerless. Several nights ago three business houses were visited and windows smashed. The following night sneak thieves entered boarding houses and stole clothes while roomers slept. Last night C. W. Graham's saloon and restaurant was entered, the cash register demolished, and two baskets of whiskey stolen.

Alva Harper, a young farmer, was held up on the highway on the outskirts of the city and robbed of $135 at the point of a pistol, and two railroads were held up in the railroad yards and relieved of their cash.

DIAMONDS

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.
Almost everybody who reads the newspaper is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for every thing but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ORATORICAL CONTEST
Of Several High Schools to Come Off Here Nov. 2.

A debating contest between oratorical representatives from several high schools in West Kentucky will be held at Hopkinsville Nov. 2. NO OPPOSITION. Democratic Council Nominees Have Ballot to Them selves

Sunday night was the limit for filing petitions to go on the official ballots for the city and county offices, and as none were filed the Democratic nominees for councilmen, whose names appear at the head of our editorial columns are without any opposition and their elections are assured. There will be three new men on the new council to take their seats the first Friday night in December. The complexion of the board will remain as now, six Democrats and one Republican. The only Republican member, Ed W. Glass, is also without opposition in his ward and will be elected for the seventh term.

John Feland, Republican nominee for representative has no opposition.

RUNNIN GAND PACING RACES

By Tennessee and Kentucky Fair Association at Guthrie

DATE, OCT. 23-26.

Best Thoroughbreds of Two States Will Participate at Meeting

Guthrie, Ky., Oct. 21.—All arrangements and preparations for the fall trotting and pacing races to be held here by the Tennessee and Kentucky Fair Association Oct. 23, 24, 25 and 26, have been completed and the outlook is good for a successful meeting.

The entries were closed on October 15 by Secretary Robert Lester. The best thoroughbreds of the two states composing the name of the Association, will be here to participate in the races, and a big time is expected. The Louisville & Nashville will be prepared to handle the crowds in and out of this place during the four days of the meeting, over the Henderson & Memphis divisions. Ample accommodation will be found by visitors at the hotels, boarding houses and private homes in Guthrie. The magnificent mile track of the Association, the grandstand, stables and other buildings on the fair grounds have been put in perfect order and nothing remains undone.

COLORED BOY Fails to "Get Religion" and Hangs Himself.

Phil Morse, a colored boy of Garrettsburg, aged sixteen years, committed suicide by hanging last Thursday afternoon. The boy tied one end of a grass rope around his neck and the other end around the beam and jumped off. His neck was broken and when the body was found it was stiff.

For some time he had been attending a revival meeting which had been in progress in the neighborhood, and the supposition is that he was brooding over religion, as it is said that he remarked the day before that unless he got religion that day he was going to kill himself.

THROWN FROM HORSE

Guy Dyer Badly Hurt Near Carthage, Mo.
Henderson, Ky., Oct. 19.—Through a letter directed to his niece in Henderson, Guy Dyer, a former resident of this city, was identified a day or so ago, when lying unconscious by the roadside near Carthage, Mo., and his relatives notified. The young man was thrown from a horse while riding through a strange community and rendered unconscious. Young Dyer removed to Henderson from Hopkinsville about a year ago, and is well known here. For several months he was foreman of the Henderson Journal. He recently left for Springfield, Mo., to visit relatives. Dyer was formerly a typo in the Kentuckian office, but had been living in Henderson for about a year.

FEARFUL ITCHING BURNING SORES

Boy in Misery 12 Years—Eczema Spread Over Body in Rough Scales, Cracked, Inflamed, and Swollen—Case Pronounced Incurable, but Completely Cured by Two Sets of Cuticura Remedies.

HIS SKIN NOW FINE AND SMOOTH AS SILK

"I wish to inform you that your wonderful Cuticura has put a stop to twelve years of misery I passed with my son. As an infant I noticed on his body a red spot and treated same with different remedies for about five years, but when the spot began to get larger I put him under the care of doctors. Under their treatment the disease spread to four different parts of his body. The longer the doctors treated him the more it grew. During the day it would get rough and form like scales. At night it would be cracked, inflamed, and badly swollen, with terrible burning and itching. When I think of his sufferings, it breaks my heart. His screams could be heard down stairs. The suffering of my son made me full of misery. I had no ambition to work, to eat, nor could I sleep.

"One doctor told me that my son's eczema was incurable, and gave it up for a bad job. One evening I saw an article in the paper about the wonderful Cuticura, and decided to give it a trial. I tell you that Cuticura Ointment is worth its weight in gold, and when I had used the first box of Ointment there was a great improvement, and by the time I had used the second set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent my child was cured. He is now twelve years old, and his skin is as fine and smooth as silk. Michael Steinman, 7 Sumner Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1905."

FOR WOMAN'S EYE

Too much stress should be placed on the great value of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills in antiseptic cleaning, thus affording pure, sweet, and economical local and constitutional treatment for inflammations, twinges, irritations, relaxations, displacements, and pains, as well as such sympathetic affections as anæmia, chlorosis, hysteria, nervousness, and debility.

THE LAY OF THE HEN.

Six Hundred Eggs Are Due from a Small Fowl.

"How many eggs a hen would lay during the term of her natural life, do you suppose?" said the man who has investigated. "No idea, eh? Well, sir, a good, healthy hen—not speaking of any particular breed, but just a hen—a good, healthy hen does not fulfill her destiny until she has turned out 600 eggs—fifty dozen. That's what Nature has fitted a hen to do in the way of eggs, and she gives her eight years to do it in," says a writer in Brown's Magazine.

"The first year of her egg-producing life a hen lays only 20 eggs, but in the three succeeding years she rolls up the score of 370. This leaves only 290 that she must give that many cackles for in the remaining years that she must stand on duty in that time, and she divides the task among those four years so that in the eighth year she lays only 20 eggs again—the number she started in with. Then she has ended her career as an egg producer, and too often, if she is in the hands of a thrifty owner, begins another career, short and delusive—this time as the summer-boarder spring chicken.

"And speaking of eggs, there is a lot about them, familiar as they are to everybody, that people don't suspect. Now here's an egg that would be a rooster if it was hatched. Winked eggs hold roosters in embryo. A proplastic hen lurks in the egg with a smooth-end shell.

"There is water a-plenty in an egg, but no more air than there is in a hammer. So long as you can keep air out of your egg it will remain sweet and fresh, but no one has ever succeeded in keeping it out by fair means more than six days. The insidious oxygen is bound to find its way through an eggshell's pores, and the only way to save that egg is to eat it. It sounds funny, but the instant you give an egg fresh air that instant you ruin its health."

BYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Barton H. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paella, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that his reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves. End Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseille on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues and the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseille. Marina is handed a mysterious note which causes her to collapse and necessitates a postponement of the journey.

CHAPTER II.—Barnes gets part of the mysterious note and receives letters which inform him that he is marked by a detective and plans to beat the vendetta at their own game. For the purpose of securing the safety of the party, Barnes arranges to have Lady Charris lease a secluded villa at Nice to which the party is to be taken in a yacht.

CHAPTER III.—Surprise is created that Marina is in league with the Corsicans. A man, who is supposed to be Corregio Danelia, is seen passing the house and Marina is thought to have given him a sign. She refuses to explain to Barnes who fact adds to his latent suspicion.

CHAPTER IV.—Barnes plans for the safety of the party to the villa in the Corsicans. The carriage carrying their party to the local landing is followed by two men, are supposed to be Corregio, and they try to murder the American. The voice on the yacht—a Frenchman—is suspected.

CHAPTER V.—The yacht is followed by a small boat. The cook is detected driving signals to the boat. Barnes attempts to throw him overboard, but is prevented by Marina and End.

CHAPTER VI.—The cook is found to be innocent of the supposed plot and is forgiven. The party arrive at Nice and End Lady Charris and her daughter, Maud, domiciled in the villa rented with Barnes' money. Barnes is anxious to find that Count Corregio is at Nice and is acting the role of admirer to Lady Charris.

CHAPTER VII.—Barnes and End make arrangements for their marriage.

CHAPTER VIII.—The net tightens about Barnes. He receives a note from the Paella Blackwood, an American who ventures and hears that Eliah Enory, a detective, has been murdered by the Corsicans. He learns that the man supposed to be Corregio, who followed the party on their way to the boat, was Baldetti, a nephew of the count, and that Count Corregio had been in the room some time prior to the party's arrival. The count warns Barnes not to marry End unless he would have her also involved in the murderous feud.

CHAPTER IX.—Barnes and End are married. Soon after the bride disappears. Barnes discovers she has been kidnapped and taken to Corsica.

CHAPTER X.—The groom secures a fishing vessel and is in a boat when a result of his bride's captors when he hears a scream from the villa and rushes back to hear that Anstruther's wife, Marina, is also missing. Barnes is compelled to depart for Corsica with delay, but before he leaves she pleads for Marina to her husband while he goes to find End. Just before Barnes' boat lands on the shore Marina is discovered hiding in a corner of the vessel. She pleads for her action by saying she has come to help Barnes to rescue his wife from the Corsicans.

CHAPTER XI.—When Barnes and Marina arrive in Corsica he gives a note written by End informing him that the kidnapping is for the purpose of entrapping Barnes, so the vendetta may kill him.

CHAPTER XII.—Barnes and Marina have unusual adventures in their search for End. They come in sight of her and her captors in the Corsican mountains wilds just as night approaches. In seeking shelter from a storm the bandits enter a hermitage and there to their amazement they discover Tommaso, the Paella's father of Marina, who was supposed to have been killed by the Belloc's soldiers, and for whose death Barnes had been vendettized.

CHAPTER XIII.—Tommaso learns that Barnes' husband did not kill her brother. Many wrongs are righted. Barnes is surprised in the hermitage by Rochini and Romano, the two soldiers who had been searching for him to murder him for his money. The bandits attempt to take away Marina, but she darts out the door. The bandits start to pursue, but as they reach the hermitage are laid low by Barnes' revolver. Members of the Bellocade enter and Barnes is honored for his great deed. The community in killing the bandits Rochini and Romano. The defense of End is promised.

But the flashing-eyed man orders: "Stand back, while I question this stranger who has done Boccagnano a service to-night."

Marina has risen, murmuring: "Antonio Bonelli!"

"Grazie Dio! Mademoiselle Paoli," says the man, and gallantly takes upon his knee and kisses devotedly the fair hand the girl extends to him. After a moment he continues most emphatically: "I was with you when the Paella heard that you had forgotten the oath of the vendetta in the arms of the English officer who killed your brother."

"That was not so," cries Marina. "The English officer who shot Antonio fell under the Egyptian guns by the hand of God. The man I love is free of any blood stain."

"Ah, the murderer of your brother fell by the hand of God. It is well. And this cavalier, is he your husband?"

"Oh, no; he is an American against whom foul wrong has been done by Sallotti, and introducing Barnes she says: 'Tell this great bandit your story and he will give you justice.' He has done so often in Boccagnano."

Briefly the American relates the kidnapping of his wife, and listening to this, the Corsican says: "No outrage against woman was ever perpetrated in Boccagnano without my avenging her, and this crime against a strange lady—the hospitality of the island forbids it. Descent with me to the village, Americano, who has done such a great service in the slaying of these noble cavaliers, who have dishonored our noble calling, and we, the Bellocade, will give your bride back to you and right your wrong."

"Dio mio," cries Marina excitedly. "Now that our glorious handits love you, Burton, your wrong will be righted!"

CHAPTER XIV.

Before a Corsican action. Escorted by the mountaineers, two stalwart young men carrying Made-moiselle Paoli down the dizzy path, they skirt the dark precipices of Dei Oro and passing the vineyards and the clearings, come to the main road leading from Corte, then descending the hillside in the chestnut groves of Boccagnano.

Then their leader turns to Marina and says: "Have no fear, Signora; your English sister shall be returned to this gentleman, but—" he lays his hand on Barnes' shoulder—"use not the weapons I see at your belt. Thy quarrel shall be my quarrel. No for- eigner shall ever be compelled to protect a woman while I, Antonio Bonelli, dominate Boccagnano."

"Were it not meeting night, every- thing would be silent save the dogs and pigs," chuckles Tommaso. "Now they'll have light enough to see I am alive."

"You, Monsieur, they are making a fete for you, Monsieur," laughs one of the young men, for lanterns are dangling from the overhanging boughs of the main street of the little village; some of the houses are illuminated, and round the communal building and the wine shops are gathered many men.

The little party tramp through the lantern-lighted streets, and coming to the door of the municipal building, the loungers who are smoking their pipes make way for them, doing their best and saying with great reverence: "The Bellocade!"

Near the entrance are two illumi- nated placards, one reading: "Vote for Sallotti, who upholds old Corsica!" the other: "Vote for Antonio Bonelli, the man who kills!"

Surrounded by the young men, Tommaso in the dim light is not noticed, and Marina has drawn her mandible close about her face.

The party enter the low hall of the municipal, which is lighted by lamps and decorated by murals and cyrena- nian flowers. The floor is covered by a crowd of farmers, peasants, and growers and shepherds. These are now being fervidly addressed by young Boccagnano himself.

Catching sight of the commanding figure of the great bandit, the adroit politician bursts out rapturously: "Ah, thanks, grand Antonio Bonelli, for thy presence and countenance. You have come to say to me, 'Bernardo, you are a true Corsican; in you is upheld the honored custom of the vendetta to the twentieth generation.' So will all here say when to-morrow I shall have the body of the one who came to Marina's nuptials and left death behind him, this American who brought with him soldiers to shoot down poor old Tommaso Mondali!"

But the savage shouts that greet this are still and old Tommaso, who pushes through the crowd and stands facing the platform, his eyes flashing, and says: "I, Tommaso Mondali, tell you there is no cause of a vendetta for me, because I am alive!"

At his words shuddering cries of "Ghost!" "Spirits!" "Specters!" rise amid the tobacco smoke of the meet- ing, and some would slip from the dais did not Antonio Bonelli command: "Let all remain!" as three of his stal- wart descendants bar the entrance.

There is a sudden cry: "Father!" from a girl in black mantle and deep mourning who has been sitting with some other women in the retirement of a corner of the hall, listening to her lover's ferocious eloquence, and Ethel- bert, with streaming eyes, is in Mon- dali's arms.

"Aye, 'tis flesh and blood you're fondling, girl," laughs the great bandit, and striding to the platform he declares in ringing tones: "But this is not all!" for now the crowd are gathered about Tommaso and are greeting him with words of sympathy, because for the sake of a man, he had been forced to take to the macchia and become a bandit.

"Attention, all!" commands Antonio. "Listen to my words. If not, my fol- lowers shall give sharper notice to you!" And the crowd wildly becomes still.

In pursuit of his snuffcase, Sallotti had just a base outrage on our hos- pitality," continues the bandit chief in solemn tones. "He has abducted a young English lady and brought her to Boccagnano to lure to death her hus- band, an American Signore who shoots well enough to be a bandit."

This night with his own weapons, has slain Rochini and Romano, whose mur- ders have made you all tremble as you went along mountain paths and whose outrages have caused our minds to have nightmares."

"Rochini and Romano dead? Impossi- ble!" cries a shepherd, as a sign of death and then a yell of gratitude rises from the concourse.

"I saw him shoot the ruffians to death upon Dei Oro, I, Antonio Bonelli,

"Don't dare say no!" This last is ad- dressed to Sallotti, who, having re- covered from his astonishment, is about to open his mouth.

"Ah, you admit it. Maladetta, where is the English lady?"
And Sallotti, being admonished to answer by a quick prick of the attello from a Bellocade youth who has stepped behind him, the young politi- cian falls forth: "No harm has come to her. She is with my mother."

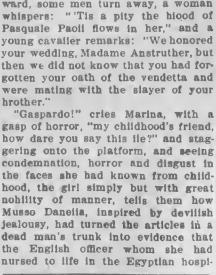

On this Barnes has looked from a distance, wisely reflecting that his bat- tle is being fought for him, but with difficulty restraining his hands from putting a pistol hand through Sallotti. He now cries:

"Then, for God's sake, take me to her quick!"
This brings upon him the attention of the crowd. Learning that it is he who has relieved them of the terror of Rochini, the men cry "Viva!" and em- brace him, and a little girl steals up to him and timidly kisses his hand.

"Your lady shall receive you soon, Signore Barnes," remarks Tommaso. "Would like you to see Corsican justice," and at some words from him two or three of the young men having left the hall on his errand, the hawk-eyed bandit continues: "Besides, I fear common report has done wrong to the lady of our town. Marina, child, step here and make your friends love you again."

To this time, she having stood in the shadows of the rear and the lamplight of the room being very dim, in their excitement the concourse had not re- marked her; but as Marina steps for- ward, some men turn away, a woman whispers: "Tis a pity the blood of Pasquale Paoli flows in her," and a young cavalier remarks: "We honor your wedding, Madame Anstruther, but then we did not know that you had for- gotten your oath of the vendetta and were mating with the slayer of your brother."

"Gaspardo!" cries Marina, with a gasp of horror. "My childhood's friend, how dare you say such things!" and stagger- ing onto the platform, and seeing condemnation, horror and disgust in the faces she had known from child- hood, the girl simply but with great nobility of manner, tells them how Musso Danelia, inspired by devilish jealousy, had turned the articles in a dead man's trunk into evidence that the English officer whom she had nursed to life in the Egyptian hospital, and whom she loved with her whole heart, was the principal in the duel at Ajaccio, the man who had slain her brother.

The beauty of the suppliant, with the blood of the great Corsican patriot flowing in her veins, touches their pas- sionate hearts. A lady from the little balcony seating some of the cyclamen decorations, throws the flowers all over her, and her compatriots, whose faces had been cold to her, fly around, embrace her and beg her to forgive them.

"But there is one I will not forgive," cries the girl sternly; "this Sallotti, Bernardo, who had known me in my youth, who spread these reports all over the mountains that I have dis- graced my very womanhood in giving myself to my brother's murderer."

"A ha! Sallotti!" yells a sheep her- der from the valley.
"Demon, his lies have dishonored our race!" growls a goatherd from the slopes of La Pinita.

"Leave him to us," says Bonelli calmly; his hawk's eyes are fixed un- pleasantly on the candidate, who with muttered anathemas is edging from the arena.

With this, Corsica's favorite bandit commands sternly: "Men of Boccag- nano, no one of you will cast your ballot at the polls for this politician who has disgraced our village. Other- wise you will hear from me. You will vote for Signore Ambrose Lucitano, the cigarette smoking statesman from Ajaccio, who begs your suffrages."

ALL THIS WEEK.

Kennedy Players Will Hold
The Boards.

In "The Girl from Kentucky" the Kennedy Players opened a week's engagement at Holland's Opera House last night, playing to a crowded house. The production is a four act melodrama, with many tense situations. The villain conspires to win the love of a good woman, but in failing in this purpose, he plans with "The Countess of Sussex" to throw suspicion on her and turn her husband against her, that the Countess may become his wife. As their scheme is just about to be carried out successfully, papers are found which clear the innocent, and all ends well.

The company is a good one, and in addition to putting on a very creditable play, there is no lack of vaudeville features. The first specialty is Prof. Hall and his trained dogs. They do no old tricks but have several new ones which are quite wonderful. Miller, the hand-cuff king and jail breaker, has an act which is certainly new. After extracting himself from all sorts of handcuffs he got out of a straight jacket, such as it is claimed is used for the violently insane, and which renders them incapable of doing harm either to themselves or others.

Louise Hens, singing and dancing comedienne, and the moving pictures completed vaudeville features, which in quality and quantity are ahead of anything seen here with a repertoire company in many years. Tonight "The Moonshiners" will be the bill.
